Anyone working with individuals being cared for in the afore mentioned settings such as Social Workers, Occupational Therapists, Community Psychiatric Nurses, etc.

Aims

In our work with people who have needs for care and support we must consider the persons consent to care, services or treatment offered. The Mental Capacity Act identifies how we assess the person's ability to consent. This training aims to demonstrate how we assess a person's capacity to consent, how this relates to personalised services and safeguarding adults.

To ensure all staff working with individuals who may lack capacity to make their own decisions understand how the Mental Capacity Act (MCA) impacts on their role in order to promote the human rights of adults at risk.
